ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0052]   Presented   herein   is   a   reduced   memory implementation technique of filterbank and block switching for real-time audio applications. Calculation of the pulse code modulated samples from the IMDCT samples and inverse window functions is simplified by exploiting the symetric qualities of the IMDCT function. As a result, memory requirements and operations are significantly reduced.